

INGLEBURN

National award for local guiding light

INGLEBURN's Phil Gifford picked up a National Volunteer Award last month for his outstanding commitment to Girl Guides. Werriwa federal Labor MP Laurie Ferguson presented the award to Mr Gifford, who became involved in Girl Guides to support his wife who was Ingleburn district leader. Girl Guides Camden district leader Frances Warner said Mr Gifford was a deserving recipient of the award. "Phil is a tireless maintenance man - he does everything," she said. "Phil installed a new roof at the Kui-Kentlyn Campsite, often runs fundraiser barbecues and was instrumental in the development of the Rita Ward Memorial Chapel dedicated to past, present and future Guide Leaders." Mr Gifford said Girl Guides was a great organisation to be involved with.

"It teaches young girls skills for life and gives them self-confidence," he said.

Mr Gifford is also a Legatee and supports 27 war widows and their families.
